What's in this episode?

Hosts Rachel Smith from Rachel's List and journalist and content creator Lynne Testoni share their top tips for sourcing experts in a variety of fields and how to find case studies.

Finding experts on social media

- Instagram is great for sourcing interiors experts / fashion experts / influencers – use the 'message' function to make contact
- LinkedIn and Twitter are also ideal for doing wide-reaching call-outs / reaching out to experts for commentary on stories
- Facebook is good for finding case studies – whether you use your business Facebook page or do a call-out to your networks on your feed. People are often happy to help and connect you with others.

Also try these Facebook groups for finding experts

- Georgia's Media Circle (great for travel PRs in particular)
- Freelance Jungle (a useful resource for freelancers of all kinds)
- Rachel's List Gold Community (lots of advice for RL Gold members)

Other avenues for finding experts

- Sourcebottle – www.sourcebottle.com.au (can be very handy but be aware you may get a lot of irrelevant pitches)
- Expert Guide – www.expertguide.com.au (great for finding academics for quotes in stories and if you can't find someone via
