What's in this episode?

Hosts Rachel Smith from Rachel's List and journalist and content creator Lynne Testoni talk to accountant Holly Shoebridge about the upcoming JobKeeper changes and how they might affect you as a freelancer.

In this episode we talk about:

- The changes on the way for JobKeeper payment amounts and other criteria that may affect you as a freelancer
- What you need to do if you're currently on JobKeeper
- Tips on managing your money going forward, especially if you'll be impacted by the reduced JobKeeper payments
- Holly's advice on starting off on the right financial foot if you're launching your freelance business after a redundancy, including why accounting systems such as Rounded or Xero can be so useful for money management.

Here are some links that may assist listeners:

- ATO updated JobKeeper details (details are being updated daily, so they'll need to continually be checking before enrolling or determining eligibility): <https://www.ato.gov.au/General/JobKeeper-Payment/JobKeeper-extension-announcement/>
- ATO JK 2.0 details specifically for freelancers (sole traders): <https://www.ato.gov.au/General/JobKeeper-Payment/Sole-traders/>
- If this helps, we have free income and expense workbook templates for download, among other resources, from the Oceans website: <https://oceansaccounting.com.au/free-resources/>
- Rachel's List also has an income and expenses tracker
- Gold members of Rachel's List can grab 25% off a monthly membership at Rounded for the first six months with the code ITNF5Uzb.

That's it for this episode. Hope you've found these show notes useful. Cheers, Rachel and Lynne
